Grafic Games
6 standard finishes

Amazone finish

The graphics create a mystical atmosphere with a number of visual elements representing lush and wild vegetation. Wooden planks, exotic animals, dense foliage and mysterious symbols produce a world of adventure that children will love exploring. The colours play a key role in setting the mood. The dominant shades of dark and light green blend harmoniously with the natural earth colours, while contrasting with the bright colours of the parrots and tropical fish.

Grafic Finish

The Grafic theme is dominated by an explosion of zingy colours and simple geometric shapes.

Lines, curves, counter-curves, checkerboard... the patterns weave together and occasionally overlap to breathe life into a cheerful and innocent children's world. The use of perspective adds a sense of depth and motion. The irregularly shaped flowers bring a fresh touch and soft feel.

Oceane finish

The presence of the sea can be felt everywhere with the symbolic and evocative graphics. The wavy lines in various shades of blue reflect the gentle rocking motion of the ocean waves. The circles represent small oxygen bubbles, while the unstructured patterns with their shimmering colours are reminiscent of the seaweed covering the sea floor. The wood with its white-leaded decor finish conjures up images of a beach hut.

Etnik finish

With its African and Maori-inspired design, the Etnik theme is adorned with masks, tattoos and prints.

The geometric patterns switch between straight lines and curves, creating an overriding impression of simple yet decorative images. No two patterns are the same, but the general style strongly mirrors the ethnic trends underlying the finish.

The predominant colours are influenced by the earth, with shades of brown, ochre and khaki.

Medieval finish

The Medieval theme features a host of details to take children back to an era that will leave them completely spellbound.

Some ivy can also be seen clinging to the stones. The drapery, badges and ironwork give the theme greater depth and substance. The colour scheme features the tones that were predominantly used during the Middles Ages. The blue, red, yellow and orange colours are bright and fresh without any shading. The realistic graphics bring a touch of depth and fantasy to each play element.

Metropolis finish

Metropolis is a retro-futuristic theme that combines elements of ultramodern architecture with old machines.

Propellers, cogs, tanks and portholes are just some of the strong visual effects that reproduce a sci-fi scene that could easily have come straight from the imagination or urban visions of Jules Verne or Fritz Lang. The outdoor equipment transforms into exploration labs, time machines and futuristic vehicles. Everything assembles and fits together perfectly, which creates an impression of perpetual motion.

The unique copper colour for this theme reinforces the quirky atmosphere within the playground.

Je fis remarquer au Petit Prince que les baobabs ne sont pas des arbustes, mais des arbres grands comme des églises et que, même s'il emportait avec lui tout un troupeau d'éléphants, ce troupeau ne viendrait pas à bout d'un seul baobab. « Enfants ! Faites attention aux baobabs ! »
